ANNUAL SNOW GUESSING CONTEST BEGINS OCTOBER 23 Palm Springs Aerial Tramway Continues Annual Tradition

PALM SPRINGS, CA (October 23, 2020) While it may still feel like summer, October 23 marks the start of the Palm Springs Aerial Tramway's Snow Guessing Contest. This annual event runs until the first measurable inch of snow falls at the Tram's Mountain Station, elevation 8,516 feet.

According to Tramway General Manager Nancy Nichols, "Traditionally, our Snow Guessing Contest begins October 1, but—this year—we wanted to wait until the Tram reopened before starting it. Not only are we anxious for the first snow, we are anxious for folks to come up and experience it in person!"

The first ten entries received with the correct date of snowfall will win four Tram admissions plus a special Tram gift memento. In the event there are more than ten correct entries, the earliest postmarks will prevail.

To submit an entry, simply write down your best-guess date on a postcard and mail it to: Snow Guessing Contest, 1 Tram Way, Palm Springs, CA 92262. Participants may enter as many times as they would like, but only one date per postcard. For more information and contest rules, please visit www.pstramway.com/special-events.

It won't be long before snowflakes are falling just a few minutes from the desert floor. There's never been a year when someone didn't win the Palm Springs Aerial Tramway's Snow Guessing Contest.
